Teacher A is authorised to go to Canada and is to receive $45 per month from the Canadian Institution. The permissible per diem cumulated on a monthly basis for a Grade I Government of India Officer in Canada is say $500. In this case, since what he received will be less than the per diem, he should be paid his full Delhi University salary and allowances.

752 Regulations—Leave Rules—Non-teaching Staff

(2) Wilful absence from duty after the expiry of leave renders a University employee liable to disciplinary action.

Decisions

(i) Treatment of wilful absence from duty not recognised

Wilful absence from duty even though not covered by grant of leave does not entail loss of lien. The period of absence not covered by grant of leave shall have to be treated as 'dies-non' for all purposes, viz., increment, leave and pension. Such absence without leave where it stands singly and not in continuation of any authorised leave of absence will constitute an interruption of service for the purpose of pension and unless the pension sanctioning authority exercises its powers to treat the periods as leave with-out allowance, the entire past service will stand forfeited.

(2) Action for overstayal of leave

Doubts were raised in certain quarters as to how the cases in which an official overstay the prescribed quantum of extraordinary leave, should be dealt with. It has been clarified that the amendment does not take away the power of the disciplinary authority to take appropriate disciplinary action for any misconduct.

Action can, therefore, be taken under these rules for unauthorised absence from duty or overstayal of leave even for one day, treating it as istisCOnduet, if the facts and circumstances of the case warrant such an action .

(g) 'Action for unauthorised absence from duty or overstayal of leave

The following decisions have been taken:

- (i) When a temporary University employee asks for leave in excess of the limits prescribed under Rule 45 and if the circumstances are exceptional, a decision could be taken by the leave sanctioning authority to grant further leave in excess of the limits with the approval of the Vice-Chancellor.
- (ii) When a temporary University employee applies for leave beyond the prescribed limit of extra-ordinary leave and the leave sanctioning authority is not satisfied with the genuineness of the grounds on which further leave has been asked for, nor does it consider the grounds as exceptional, the leave cannot be granted. In such a case the University employee should be asked to rejoin duty within a specified date failing which he would render himself liable for disciplinary action. Disobedience of orders to rejoin duty within the specified period would afford good and sufficient reasons for initiating disciplinary action under University Non-Teaching Employees (Terms and Conditions of service) Rules—1971. If he rejoins duty by the stipulated date, he may be taken back to service and the period of absence not covered by leave be treated as overstayal of leave and dealt with in accordance with the orders regarding regulation of overstayal of leave.

If the University employee does not join duty by the stipulated date it would be open to the disciplinary authority to institute without prejudice to the disciplinary action already initiated against him (unless he is placed under suspension) and the disciplinary action concluded as quickly as possible. The question of regularisation of the period of over-stayal of leave be left over for consideration till the finalisation of the disciplinary proceedings.

(iii) If a University employee absents himself abruptly or applies for leave which is refused in the exigencies of service and still he happens to absent himself from duty, he should be told of the consequences, viz., that the entire period of absence would be treated as unauthorised entailing loss of pay for the period in question under proviso to Fundamental Rule a 7, thereby resulting in break in service. If, however, he reports for duty before or after initiation of disciplinary proceedings, he may be taken back for duty because he has not been placed under suspension. The disciplinary action may be concluded and the period of absence treated as unauthorised resulting in loss in pay and allowances for the period of absence under proviso to F.R. 17(r) and thus a break in service. The question whether the break should be condoned or not and treated as "dies non" should be considered only after conclusion of the disciplinary proceedings and that too after the University employee represents in this regard.

It is made clear that a University employee who remains absent unauthorisedly without proper permission should be proceeded against immediately and this should not be put off till the absence exceeds the limit prescribed in the Rule 45 (iii) (a). However, the disciplinary authority should consider the grounds adduced by the University employee for his unauthorised absence before initiating disciplinary proceedings. If the disciplinary authority is satisfied that the grounds adduced for unauthorised absence are justified, the leave of the kind applied for and due and admissible may be granted to him.

SECTION III—KINDS OF LEAVE

36. The following kinds of leave, shall be admissible to the employees •
